This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THE

ROYAL SOCIETY of LONDON:

Made in the Year 1776.

PREFACE.

THE Statutes of the Royal Society were, for the moſt part, formed in the year 1663: An abſtract of the Charters and Laws was publiſhed in the year 1667, in Sprat's Hiſtory of the Royal Society; and in the year 1752, the Council publiſhed an Edition of their Charters and Statutes, as they then ſtood.

The Laws of the Royal Society, like thoſe of other communities, were altered from time to time, until they appeared ſufficient to embrace every contingency that might occur, while they held their meetings in Greſham College; which they continued to do for near the ſpace of fifty years. But the arrangement of the Society's affairs being ſomewhat altered upon poſſeſſing an Houſe of their own, it became neceſſary to make different eſtabliſhments in many particulars; and to alter and augment ſome of their Statutes. However, the greater part of them was ſtill left in the original form, ſuited to the ſituation of the Society at Greſham College.

The Edition of the Statutes in the year 1752, gave them as above deſcribed; together with a few additions, calculated to ſuit particular circumſtances. But ſtill many parts of them were not accommodated to the preſent times, nor to the change of place, and what depended thereon: neither was the order or connection of the chapters ſufficiently attended to.

The Council have now judged it neceſſary, for various reaſons, to review, new-model, and correct their Statutes, ſo as better to ſuit the preſent times and circumſtances; to digeſt them in a more methodical order; and to give a new Edition of them, ſo reviſed, digeſted, and arranged.

They have alſo judged it expedient to premiſe a ſuccinct account why ſome of the Statutes were altered, and why others were totally abrogated.

It had been the uſage, for upwards of the firſt ſixty years, to nominate and approve in Council, all Candidates for being Fellows, previouſly to their being propoſed to the Society for Election; and they were enjoined to appear for Admiſſion within four weeks after their Election. But, about the year 1727, objections having ariſen to the ſhort time of four weeks; ſome allowances were made to perſons reſiding above forty miles from London; and in the year 1730, the preſent mode of propounding for Election, and fixing the certificate up for ten weeks in the Meeting-room, was ſettled. In the year 1753, it was enacted, that payment of the admiſſion fee, and ſigning a bond for annual payments, were neceſſary to entitle a perſon to be publickly acknowledged a Member, after his Election; and in the years 1761, 1766, 1769, and 1770, ſome regulations were judged neceſſary to be made concerning the recommendation and election of Foreigners.

In the Statutes concerning the payments by the Fellows to the Society, ſeveral alterations became neceſſary; not only on account of forming anew the Chapter of the Treaſurer; but alſo on account of each Fellow's receiving gratis a volume of the Philoſophical Tranſactions yearly. For, the charge of printing the Tranſactions for the uſe of the Members, having much increaſed the yearly expenſe of the Society; it was judged reaſonable and proper to advance the admiſſion fee from two to five guineas; and afterwards, for other reaſons, it was agreed that inſtead of twenty, twenty-ſix guineas ſhould be paid in lieu of giving bond for annual contributions.

In the Chapter of the Election of the Council and Officers, a clauſe was added, in the year 1735 (on account of the great increaſe of Members) permitting every Fellow to deliver his three liſts at the ſame time, at the Anniverſary Elections; notwithſtanding the apparent impropriety of voting for perſons to be Officers, before it could be known that they would be elected Members of the new Council.

Of the Treaſurer. At firſt, when the Society were not in poſſeſſion of much ready money, it was judged neceſſary that the Fellows ſhould pay their weekly contributions once a quarter; and the Treaſurer's accompts were to be audited quarterly. He was not to have more than 20 l. in his hands at a time:

All ſurplus was to be locked up in the iron cheſt; there being then no Public Funds: but the buſineſs of the Treaſurer, as well as the mode of collecting the contributions from Members, having been long conducted in a manner very different from what was at firſt appointed; the Statutes relating to the Treaſurer have therefore been new formed, agreeably to the modern practice which has been in uſe for many years.

Of the Secretaries. The great alterations in the circumſtances of the Society, together with the regulations concerning the publication of their Tranſactions, have rendered it neceſſary to alter the chapter relating to the Secretaries, and to have ſome additions made to it, with regard to the papers read to the Society, and their publication.

Of the Clerk. The ſtatutes concerning the Clerk, mentioned in the publication of 1752, were ſuch as ſuited the Society at their firſt inſtitution, and while they continued at Greſham College, when they had little or no concerns with rents, taxes, repairs, &c. And as every Officer had but little buſineſs to do for the Society, beſides what was done at the uſual Meetings, few rules for them, were found wanting, and as few for their Muſeum and Library; which, being in the Galleries of that College, the reſident Profeſſors had an Eye over thoſe Collections: but, when the Society became poſſeſſed of a Houſe of their own, fit for their Meetings and Curioſities (which happened in the Year 1710) it was found neceſſary to have a reſident Officer, who ſhould have the care of the Houſe, and of the neceſſary preparations for the Meetings, and alſo the care of the Library and Repoſitory. However, as the Society's finances rendered a conſiderable degree of frugality convenient, it was determined (under the Preſidentſhip of Sir Iſaac Newton) that one and the ſame perſon ſhould ſupply the places of Clerk, Librarian, Keeper of the Repoſitory, and Houſekeeper, and alſo officiate as Mace-bearer, and as Deputy to the Treaſurer.

The articles in the chapter of the publication of the Tranſactions, and their delivery, which were inſerted in the Edition of 1752, concerning the Clerk's account of the books iſſued out, are omitted; as he is now reſponſible for them in another way. Another article in the ſame chapter is alſo omitted, concerning the admiſſion fee, as being included in the new chapter of the payment of the Fellows.

Several additions are made to the former ſtatutes relating to the books and papers; to declare the Society's power over the papers read to them; and alſo to inform the Fellows how they may conſult the books in the Society's Library. The articles of the Regiſter and Letter-books are now totally omitted; becauſe the continuation of thoſe books has, many years ago, been found uſeleſs; other methods having been uſed to preſerve the original papers not publiſhed, as well as thoſe which are publiſhed, at a rate much leſs expenſive.

The Office of Curator was at firſt thought ſo eſſential, that the Society allotted to it a ſalary more conſiderable than any one of the public Profeſſors received at that time, beſides the apartments they were to have in the Society's Houſe or College. But, as the Society's revenues have not, to this day, been ſufficient to enable them to aſſume the exterior ſplendor which, by their charter, it ſeems to have been imagined that they might in due time arrive at; the appointments of Curators, with large allowances, and of Serjeants at Mace

&c. have hitherto been declined. Beſides, the experimental part of Philoſophy having begun, even in the early years of the Society, to be cultivated; ſeveral gentlemen procured apparatuſes, to ſatisfy themſelves in private; ſo that many years had not paſſed, before a conſiderable part of the Fellows were ſo well acquainted with the mode of making experiments, that ſuch accompliſhed Curators have not been found neceſſary; and, when Experimental Philoſophy arrived at ſuch popular Regard, as to be frequently explained in public Lectures, that kind of knowledge became more generally diffuſed. Several perſons, indeed, have formerly been actually employed by the Society as Curators; particularly, the Doctors Hooke and Deſaguliers. But neither of them ever had above 50l. a year; and that, not certain: it depended on the number of Experiments which they had exhibited to the Society in the preceding year. The chapter of the Statutes relating to this Office is therefore omitted in this Edition.

In like manner, at the inſtitution of the Society, the fabrication of Inſtruments for experiments was not commonly known to workmen; and therefore ſome ſtatutes were made concerning Operators, or perſons well acquainted with the uſe of tools in various works; who were at firſt judged neceſſary to attend the Meetings, to be ready to aſſiſt in any of the Experiments to be made before the Society: but the Experimental Philoſophers having long ſince taught and familiarized ſuch general knowledge, in working on things formerly unknown, particular Operators to the Society have been for many years found uſeleſs; as the different Artificers employed by them can now readily furniſh whatſoever is wanted.

So a Printer to the Society, was an Officer that appeared neceſſary at the time when the ſtatutes concerning that office were eſtabliſhed: but the affairs of Printing and Bookſelling are ſo greatly altered ſince the inſtitution of the Society, that Printers and Bookſellers have for many years ſtood in no other relation to the Royal Society than any other Tradeſmen they employ; and particularly, ſince the Tranſactions have been printed under their own care. They themſelves now buy and pay for the paper; employ and pay the Printers and Engravers; correct and publiſh their own Works; and finally diſpoſe of to Purchaſers the ſurplus copies, above the number diſtributed amongſt their Members by their own Librarian.

Thus much ſeemed proper to be premiſed, in order to ſhew the grounds and reaſons of the alterations now made.

STATUTES OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

CHAPTER I.

Of the Election and Admiſſion of Fellows.

I. NO perſon ſhall be propoſed, elected, or admitted a Fellow of the Society upon St. Andrew's day, or the day of the anniverſary meeting for electing the Council and Officers.

II. Every Fellow, that is to propoſe any perſon as a candidate, in order to election, ſhall, before the ſaid perſon be propoſed, make known to him the effect of the obligation to be ſubſcribed, and the ſum that is to be paid for admiſſion money, and the rate of the Annual payments, or the ſum to be paid in lieu of annual payments, for the occaſions of the Society.

III. Every perſon to be elected a Fellow of the Royal Society, ſhall be propoſed and recommended at a meeting of the Society by three or more Members; who ſhall then deliver to one of the Secretaries a paper, ſigned by themſelves, ſpecifying the name, rank, profeſſion, qualifications, and the uſual place of reſidence of ſuch perſon; all which ſhall be certified from their perſonal acquaintance with him, or with his writings.

A fair copy of which paper, with the date of the day when delivered, ſhall be fixed up in the common meeting room of the Society at ten ſeveral ordinary meetings, before the ſaid candidate ſhall be put to the Vote: ſaving and excepting, that it ſhall be free for every one of His Majeſty's ſubjects, who is a Peer, or ſon of a Peer, of Great Britain or Ireland, and for every one of his Majeſty's Privy Council of either of the ſaid kingdoms; and for every Foreign Sovereign Prince, or the ſon of a Sovereign Prince, or an Ambaſſador to the Court of Great Britain, to be propoſed by any ſingle Member, and to be put to the Vote for Election on the ſame day, there being preſent twenty-one members at the leaſt, being the competent number for making Elections.

IV. In the Election of a perſon for a Fellow of the Society, the votes ſhall be taken by ballot, and no perſon ſhall be declared elected, unleſs he have in his favour two thirds of the numbers voting.

V. Every perſon, elected a Fellow, ſhall appear for his admiſſion on or before the fourth ordinary meeting of the Society, after his Election; or within ſuch further time as ſhall be granted by the Society or Council, upon cauſe ſhewed to either of them: otherwiſe his Election ſhall be void.

VI. The

VI. The Admiſſion of any Fellow into the Society ſhall be at ſome meeting thereof, in manner and form following; he having firſt ſubſcribed the obligation in the Charter book. The Preſident, taking him by the hand, ſhall ſay theſe words: I do, by the authority, and in the name, of the Royal Society of London for improving natural knowledge, admit you a Fellow thereof.

VII. The Election, and alſo the payment and admiſſion of every perſon into the Society, with the time thereof, ſhall be recorded in the Journal-book.

VIII. No one of his Majeſty's ſubjects, or any other perſon reſiding in his Majeſty's Dominions, who ſhall be elected a Fellow of the Society, ſhall be deemed an actual Fellow thereof; nor ſhall the name of any ſuch perſon be printed in the annual Liſt of the Fellows of the Society, until ſuch perſon ſhall have paid his Admiſſion Fee, and given the uſual bond for the payment of contributions, or paid the ſum appointed in lieu of ſuch contributions: But that, upon ſuch payment, or giving Bond as aforeſaid, it ſhall be lawful for the Society to give leave for the name of ſuch perſon, ſo elected as aforeſaid, to be entered in the Journal-book, and printed in the liſt of the Society: Provided always, that no ſuch perſon ſhall have liberty to vote at any Election or meeting of the Society, before he ſhall have been admitted.

Any perſon reſiding in foreign parts, and not a ſubject of the Britiſh Dominions, who is deſirous of becoming a Fellow of this Society, ſhall have a certificate drawn up in his favour, ſpecifying his Chriſtian name, ſurname, works, quality or profeſſion, with his place of reſidence, and ſigned by, at leaſt, three Fellows of the Society upon the Foreign liſt; who ſhall in ſuch certificate atteſt, of their perſonal knowledge, that ſuch Candidate, by his Philoſophical learning and abilities, is duly qualified, and likely to become an uſeful Member of the Society: and every ſuch candidate ſhall alſo have a certificate ſigned by, at leaſt, three Fellows on the Home liſt, who ſhall atteſt the preceding qualifications either of their own perſonal knowledge, or from the works or correſpondence of ſuch Candidate.

Such certificates ſo ſigned, after having been preſented to the Preſident in the chair, and read to the Society, ſhall be fixed up in their publick meeting room, and continue there from the 30th day of November to the 30th day of May next following; and the Names of ſuch Foreigners ſhall be read at the weekly meetings of the Society, during the ſaid term, as often as the Preſident ſhall direct. And at the weekly meeting of the Society, on, or next after, the 30th of May, annually, the number of Foreigners thus recommended ſhall be propoſed to the Society for election, and put to the ballot.

Provided always that this Regulation ſhall not extend to Sovereign Foreign Princes or their Sons (who, being propoſed, ſhall be put to the ballot immediately) nor to ſuch Foreigners who being at the time reſident, or having been reſident for the ſpace of ſix months in Great Britain, ſhall deſire to be elected into the Society, in the ſame manner, and upon the ſame conditions, with the home-members, paying their admiſſion fees and compoſition money.

VI. The Admiſſion of any Fellow into the Society ſhall be at ſome meeting thereof, in manner and form following; he having firſt ſubſcribed the obligation in the Charter-book. The Preſident, taking him by the hand, ſhall ſay theſe words: I do, by the authority, and in the name, of the Royal Society of London for improving natural knowledge, admit you a Fellow thereof.

VII. The Election, and alſo the payment and admiſſion of every perſon into the Society, with the time thereof, ſhall be recorded in the Journal-book.

VIII. No one of his Majeſty's ſubjects, or any other perſon reſiding in his Majeſty's Dominions, who ſhall be elected a Fellow of the Society, ſhall be deemed an actual Fellow thereof; nor ſhall the name of any ſuch perſon be printed in the annual Liſt of the Fellows of the Society, until ſuch perſon ſhall have paid his Admiſſion Fee, and given the uſual bond for the payment of contributions, or paid the ſum appointed in lieu of ſuch contributions: But that, upon ſuch payment, or giving Bond as aforeſaid, it ſhall be lawful for the Society to give leave for the name of ſuch perſon, ſo elected as aforeſaid, to be entered in the Journal-book, and printed in the liſt of the Society: Provided always, that no ſuch perſon ſhall have liberty to vote at any Election or meeting of the Society, before he ſhall have been admitted.

IX. It having been found expedient to elect into the Society perſons, under the title of Foreign Members, who are neither natives nor inhabitants of his Majeſty's dominions, and to exempt them from certain obligations which the Members on the Home liſt are enjoined by the Statutes to perform; as it alſo much importeth the good, and muſt redound to the credit, of the Society, not only that the number of perſons admitted to theſe privileges be limited, but alſo that they be ſelected from among men of the greateſt eminence for their literary endowments: It is hereby ordained,

That the number of Foreign Members ſhall not exceed One Hundred.

That each certificate, propoſing a candidate for election on the Foreign liſt, ſhall be ſigned by ſix or more Fellows of the Society, ſpecifying his Chriſtian name, ſurname, titles, works, quality or profeſſion, with his place of reſidence; ſhall be preſented at one of the ordinary meetings between Eaſter and the Anniverſary; and, after being read, ſhall be fixed up in the public meeting room, and continue there till the Thurſday immediately preceding the next Eaſter vacation, that being the day hereby appointed for chooſing from among all the candidates a ſelect number, who are to be put to a future ballot for election.

That on the ſaid day (the Preſident having given notice thereof at two of the preceding meetings) the Society ſhall meet at ſeven o'clock. That the Preſident, on taking the chair, ſhall declare the number of vacancies, and the Clerk, on demand, ſhall deliver to each of the Fellows preſent a printed liſt of all the candidates propoſed. That each Fellow ſhall on this liſt diſtinguiſh the names of the candidates to whom he gives his ſuffrage, by a line drawn under their reſpective names, in number not exceeding the number of vacancies, and ſhall deliver the ſaid liſt to one of the Secretaries, or of the two Scrutators to be appointed by the Preſident.

All the liſts being collected, one of the Secretaries, aſſiſted by a Scrutator, ſhall open them one by one, and, having taken notice that there be not more names marked than the number of vacancies, he ſhall recite the names diſtinguiſhed by a mark; and the other Secretary, alſo aſſiſted by a Scrutator, ſhall note how often every ſeveral name is recited. This done, the Secretaries and Scrutators ſhall ſum up the ſuffrages; and the certificates of thoſe candidates who ſhall have the majority of votes (after rejecting the liſts where the names underlined exceed the number of vacancies) ſhall be replaced in the uſual manner in the meeting room: the reſt ſhall be taken away and cancelled by the Clerk.

But if it ſhall happen, that between the candidates who have a decided majority, being fewer than the number of vacancies, and thoſe who have a decided minority, there ſhall be found ſome who have an equality of ſuffrages, thoſe perſons ſhall not be put to the ballot at the approaching election, but their certificates ſhall be preſerved uncancelled, and immediately after ſuch election ſhall be replaced in the meeting room, and themſelves conſidered as candidates for the enſuing year.

 The

The ſucceſsful candidates ſhall be put to the ballot, in the uſual manner, for election at the next meeting immediately after the Eaſter vacation; and thoſe, in whoſe favour there ſhall appear two thirds of the numbers voting, ſhall be declared duly elected.

Provided always, that this regulation ſhall not extend to Sovereign Foreign Princes, or their ſons, (who, being propoſed, ſhall be put to the ballot immediately,) nor to ſuch Foreigners who, being at the time reſident, or having been reſident for the ſpace of ſix months, in Great Britain, ſhall deſire to be elected into the Society, in the ſame manner, and upon the ſame conditions, with the Home-members, paying their admiſſion fees and compoſition money.

CHAPTER II.

Of the Obligation to be ſubſcribed.

EVERY perſon elected a Fellow of the Society, ſhall, before his Admiſſion, ſubſcribe the obligation in theſe words following:

We who have hereunto ſubſcribed, do hereby promiſe each for himſelf, that we will endeavour to promote the good of the Royal Society of London for improving natural knowledge, and to purſue the ends, for which the ſame was founded; that we will be preſent at the meetings of the Society, as often as conveniently we can, eſpecially at the anniverſary elections, and upon extraordinary occaſions; and that we will obſerve the Statutes and Orders of the ſaid Society. Provided, that whenſoever any of us ſhall ſignify to the Preſident under his hand, that he deſireth to withdraw from the Society, he ſhall be free from this Obligation for the future.

And if any perſon elected ſhall refuſe to ſubſcribe the ſaid Obligation, the election of that perſon ſhall be void.

CHAP-

CHAPTER III.

Of the Payments by the Fellows to the Society.

I. EVERY perſon elected on the home liſt ſhall, before he is admitted a Fellow of the Society, pay to the uſe of the Society the ſum of five guineas for admiſſion money. And if any ſuch perſon ſhall refuſe or fail to pay the ſaid ſum, he ſhall not be admitted, and his election ſhall be void; except the ſaid ſum be remitted in whole, or in part, by ſpecial order of the Council.

II. Every perſon elected a Fellow on the home liſt ſhall, beſide the Admiſſion money, farther contribute towards the expences of the Society, previous to his admiſſion, either by paying the ſum of twenty-ſix guineas in lieu of all future contributions, or by executing a bond, thereby ſubjecting himſelf to a payment after the rate of one ſhilling by the week to the Society, ſo long as he ſhall continue a Fellow thereof; which continuance ſhall be accounted from the time of his election. Provided that if the uſual place of reſidence of any ſuch perſon ſhall happen to exceed the diſtance of ſixty meaſured miles from London, ſuch perſon ſhall not be permitted to give Bond for the payment of ſuch contributions, but ſhall, before he be admitted, or his name be allowed to be printed in the liſt of Fellows, pay down the ſum of twenty-ſix guineas in lieu of ſuch contributions.

III. Every

III. Every Fellow who hath given Bond may, at any time, compound for his future contributions, by paying at once the ſum of twenty-ſix guineas; which payment being made, his Bond ſhall be delivered up.

IV. For the more convenient receiving and collecting the contribution of one ſhilling by the week, to be paid by every Fellow who gives Bond as above mentioned, the ſame, amounting to fifty-two ſhillings by the year, ſhall be paid yearly to the twenty-fifth day of March, and in proportion for a part of a year, by any perſon elected after the beginning, or withdrawing from the Society before the ſaid end of the year.

V. Every Fellow of the Society, who pays contributions, ſhall upon the firſt, ſecond, or third weekly meeting of the Society next after the twenty-fifth of March in every year, bring or ſend in to the treaſurer, or his deputy, his yearly contribution of fifty-two ſhillings, or ſuch proportion of it as ſhall be then due. And if any Fellow ſhall fail to bring or ſend in the ſame as aforeſaid, except the ſaid payment be remitted in the whole, or in part, by ſpecial order of the council; his bond ſhall be put in ſuit for the recovery thereof, and he ſhall be liable to Ejection out of the Society; upon which the Council ſhall proceed as they ſhall ſee cauſe.

CHAP.

CHAPTER IV.

Of the Death or Receſs of any Fellow.

UPON the Death, or the voluntary withdrawing, of any Fellow of the Society, one of the Secretaries ſhall note ſuch their Death or Receſs in the printed Liſt of that year againſt their names; and the Death, or withdrawing, of any Fellow ſhall be recorded in the Journal-book of the Society, among the Minutes of the proceedings of St. Andrew's day.

CHAPTER V.

Of the Cauſes and Form of Ejection.

I. IF any Fellow of the Society ſhall contemptuouſly, or contumaciouſly, diſobey the Statutes or Orders of the Society or Council; or ſhall, by ſpeaking, writing, or printing, publickly defame the Society; or adviſedly, maliciouſly, or diſhoneſtly, do any thing to the damage, detriment, or diſhonour thereof, he ſhall be ejected out of the Society.

II. Whenſoever there ſhall be cauſe for the Ejection of any Fellow out of the Society, the Preſident ſhall, at ſome meeting thereof, propoſe the Ejection of ſuch Fellow; which being put to the Ballot, and two thirds of the members voting for it, the Preſident ſhall cancel his name in the Regiſter, and at the ſame time pronounce him ejected in theſe words:

I do, by the authority and in the name of the Royal Society of London, for improving natural knowledge, declare A. B. to be now ejected, and no longer a Fellow thereof.

And the Ejection of every ſuch perſon ſhall be then recorded in the Journal-book of the Society; and his name, as ejected, be alſo read at the next Anniverſary Election.

CHAPTER VI.

Of the Election of the Council and Officers.

I. AT the two ordinary meetings of the Society, which ſhall be within the fifteen days next preceeding the day of the anniverſary elections, the Preſident ſhall give notice of the ſaid Elections; and declare, how much it importeth the good of the Society, that ſuch perſons may be choſen into the Council, as are moſt likely to attend the meetings and buſineſs of the Council, out of whom there may be made the beſt choice of a Preſident and other Officers.

II. Every Fellow of the Society, in or near London, or within the reach of the penny-poſt, and whoſe reſidence is known to the Clerk, ſhall be called to the anniverſary meetings, for electing the Council and Officers for the year enſuing, by particular ſummons ſigned by the Preſident; which ſummons ſhall be ſent to the houſe or lodging of every ſuch Fellow, a week at the leaſt before the ſaid day, together with printed liſts of the names of the Fellows of the Society. And the ſaid ſummons ſhall be to this effect.

These are to give notice, that on the day of being the Council and Officers of the ROYAL SOCIETY are to be elected for the year enſuing; at which Election your preſence is expected, at of the clock in the

III. For

III. For the anniverſary Election of the Council (which is to conſiſt of eleven Members of the preſent Council, to be continued for the year next enſuing; and ten of the Fellows, being no Members of the Council, to be added to them), there ſhall be a competent number of liſts printed of all the Fellows of the Society (excepting all the Members of the preſent Council), in an alphabetical order; and a competent number of the like liſts of all the Members of the preſent Council; both which liſts ſhall be diſtributed to all the Fellows of the Society, preſent at the Anniverſary Election.

IV. For the Election of the eleven Members of the preſent Council, to be continued for the year next enſuing, every Fellow ſhall on the printed liſt of the preſent Council, by a line drawn under each name, to the number of eleven and no more, ſignify the perſons, to whom he giveth his ſuffrage for their continuance, as aforeſaid: and cloſing up the ſaid liſt ſhall deliver it in to ſome perſon, appointed to collect and receive the ſame.

V. All the liſts being thus collected, one of the Secretaries ſhall open them one by one, and in the firſt place ſhall take notice of the number of the names diſtinguiſhed, as is before preſcribed, in each liſt (which if it be above eleven in any, the ſame liſt ſhall be laid aſide, and no notice taken of the ſuffrages therein), and ſhall recite every name ſo diſtinguiſhed; and the other Secretary ſhall, in a liſt for that purpoſe, note how often every ſeveral name is recited; and each of the Secretaries ſhall be aſſiſted by a Scrutator, to be drawn by lot by the Preſident. This done, the Secretaries and Scrutators ſhall ſum up the ſuffrages, according to the notes affixed to every name; or in caſe of the abſence of one or both the Secretaries, one or two Scrutators more (to be in like manner drawn by lot) ſhall ſupply their places; whereof two ſhall be employed in the peruſal of the liſts, and recital of the names, and the other two in the noting of the names recited, as is before-preſcribed.

VI. After the noting and ſumming up of the votes, the Secretaries, or Scrutators, ſhall recite all the names of the preſent Council having any votes upon the preſent Scrutiny, with the number of the votes to every name; to the end, that all the perſons carrying the major part of the votes may be known be to thus elected, if they be not more in number than eleven. But if the perſons having the majority of votes be more than eleven, he or they that ſhall have the feweſt ſuffrages, ſhall be ſecluded, until the number be reduced to eleven; or to a leſſer number, if equality between perſons having the feweſt ſuffrages do ſo require. And if the perſons having the majority of votes, or the perſons remaining upon the aforeſaid reduction, ſhall not amount to the number of eleven, then all the reſt upon that liſt ſhall be put to the ſcrutiny again, and every Fellow ſhall mark, as before, ſo many, and no more, as are wanting; and the proceeding thereupon in all things ſhall be the ſame as before, until the number be compleat. And in caſe of equal diſtribution of votes, the number being greater than the number wanting, the proceeding ſhall be repeated upon the ſaid perſons; and if then they ſtill have equal votes, the Preſident ſhall ſeclude one by lot, and the reſt ſhall be put to the ſcrutiny again.

VII. For the Election of the ten Fellows not of the preſent Council, to be added to the former eleven, to conſtitute the Council for the year next enſuing, the proceedings upon the printed liſts of the Fellows of the Society ſhall be in all particulars obſerved, as upon the former liſts, according as the caſes ſhall require.

VIII. In caſe of ſecluſion of any member of the preſent Council, or of any other Fellow by lot, the ſame perſon ſhall be brought in again to paſs the ſcrutiny, by putting him in competition with one that hath the leaſt, or with more of thoſe that have the leaſt equal number of votes.

IX. Foraſmuch as the poſſible varieties in the equalities and proportions of ſuffrages diſtributed among ſeveral perſons, upon which Non-elections may happen, are ſo great and manifold, that it would be tedious to obviate them all in particular Statutes: if therefore any caſe ſhall happen not provided for, whereupon the Election cannot be made or perfected, the ſame ſhall be adjourned to the next convenient time; and the Council in the interim ſhall make proviſion, and offer ſome expedient to the Society for the effecting thereof.

X. For electing the Preſident, Treaſurer, and Secretaries, every Fellow preſent at the anniverſary Election of the Council ſhall, after the Election made for the Members of the new Council, put upon a diſtinct liſt ſeveral marks, firſt for for the Preſident, next for the Treaſurer, and then for the Secretaries, to be choſen ſeverally out of the ſaid new Council, for the year enſuing; and the proceedings therein ſhall be after the ſame manner, as is directed for the anniverſary Elections of the Council.

XI. Whereas the number of the Members of the Royal Society is ſo large, as to render the Election of the Council and Officers ſo tedious, that many Members cannot attend during the whole time: therefore any Fellow being preſent ſhall be permitted, on the day appointed, during the time of the Society's ſitting for Election, to give in his three liſts altogether, or any two, or one of them; the ſeveral liſts being marked, one with a line drawn under each name of the eleven Members of the preſent Council, to be continued for the year enſuing; another marked in the ſame manner with the names of the ten Fellows not of the preſent Council, to be added to the former eleven; and a third marked with the ſeveral marks for the Preſident, for the Treaſurer, and for the two Secretaries. And the Secretaries and Scrutators ſhall put the ſaid liſts into the ſeveral boxes provided for that purpoſe, and ſhall note down the name of each Fellow giving in his liſts, and take notice, whether he gives in one, two, or all three liſts, at the ſame time. In all other reſpects to proceed in the ſame manner as preſcribed by the former Statutes.

XII. For electing any Member of the Council, or any Officer to be elected by the Society, upon ſuch vacancies as ſhall ſhall happen in the intervals of the anniverſary Elections, the ſummons for ſuch Election, and the proceedings in it, ſhall be after the ſame manner as is directed for the anniverſary Elections.

XIII. Upon the vacancy of the Preſident's place, which ſhall happen in the intervals of the anniverſary Elections, the Treaſurer, or in his abſence one of the Secretaries, ſhall cauſe the Council to be ſummoned for the Election of a new Preſident; and the Council meeting thereupon in the uſual place, or any eleven or more of them, ſhall proceed to the ſaid Election, and not ſeparate until the major part of the number aforeſaid ſhall have agreed upon a new Preſident.

CHAPTER VII.

Of the Preſident.

I. THE buſineſs of the Preſident ſhall be, to preſide in all the meetings, and regulate all the debates, of the Society, Council, and Committees; to ſtate and put queſtions both in the affirmative and negative, according to the ſenſe and intention of the meetings; to call for reports and accounts from Committees, and others; to check irregularities, and to keep all perſons to order; to ſummon all extraordinary meetings of the Society, Council, and Committees, upon any urgent occaſions; and to execute, or ſee to the execution of, the Statutes of the Society.

II. Whenſoever any queſtion ſhall be deſired to be put by any Fellow, at a meeting of the Society, Council, or Committee, and ſeconded by another, the Preſident ſhall put the ſame; unleſs, upon debate, the ſenſe of the meeting appear to be otherwiſe.

III. The Preſident ſhall take place of every Fellow of the Society, at their ordinary place of meeting; and alſo in all other places, where any number of the Fellows meet as a Society, Council, or Committee; and, being in the Chair, is to be covered, while ſpeaking unto or hearing particular Fellows, notwithſtanding their being uncovered.

CHAPTER VIII.

Of the Treaſurer and his Accompts.

I. THE Treaſurer, or ſome perſon appointed by him, ſhall receive to the uſe of the Society all moneys, or ſums of money, due or payable to the Society; and out of ſuch moneys ſhall pay and diſburſe all moneys, or ſums of money, due from or payable by the Society, upon all occaſions; and ſhall keep particular Accompts of all ſuch receipts and payments.

II. Every ſum of money, payable to the uſe of the Society, of Five pounds or under, ſhall be paid by order of the Preſident, under his hand; and every ſum exceeding Five pounds ſhall be paid by order of the Council, ſigned by the Preſident, and regiſtered by the Secretary.

III. All moneys, or ſums of money, which there ſhall not be preſent occaſion for expending, or otherwiſe diſpoſing of to the uſe of the Society, ſhall be laid out, in ſuch government or other ſecurities, as ſhall be approved of and directed by the Council.

IV. The Treaſurer ſhall have and keep a yearly liſt of all ſuch Fellows of the Society as pay the ſum appointed in lieu of annual contributions; and alſo of thoſe who pay the annual contributions of fifty-two ſhillings: and in this liſt ſhall be noted the times up to which the annual contributions have been paid, and the arrears due from each Fellow.

V. The Treaſurer ſhall alſo have and keep a Book of Cheque Receipts for annual contributions, each Receipt to be ſigned by himſelf; and to be filled up with the name of the Fellow paying, the ſum paid, and the time paid to: theſe Receipts to be underſigned by the perſon who ſhall receive the money on the Treaſurer's behalf, who, upon the delivery of the Receipt to the Fellow paying, is to enter upon that part of the Cheque which is left in the Book, the above particulars and alſo the day of payment.

VI. The Treaſurer ſhall take care ſo to regulate the annual contributions, that they ſhall all become due at Lady-day: and ſhall demand, or cauſe them to be demanded of ſuch Fellows who neglect their payments for half a year after they become due.

VII. The Accompts of the Treaſurer ſhall be audited annually, a ſhort time preceding the Anniverſary Elections, by a Committee conſiſting of five Members of the Council, of whom the Preſident and the Senior Secretary (or in his abſence the Junior) to be two; and of Five Fellows of the Society not Members of the Council, who are to be nominated by the Preſident, with the conſent of the major part of the Fellows preſent, given by ballot at one of the three next preceding ceding weekly meetings: any three or more of the ſaid five Members of the Council, whereof the Preſident and one of the Secretaries ſhall be two, together with any three or more of the ſaid five Fellows, ſhall be a Quorum of the ſaid Committee: the Members of the ſaid Committee who are of the Council ſhall make their Report to the Council held next after ſuch Audit, on or before the Anniverſary Elections; and the Members of the ſaid Committee who are not of the Council ſhall make the Report to the Society, upon the meeting next before the Anniverſary Elections, or upon the day of the ſaid Elections.

VIII. The Treaſurer ſhall take care that the Writings of the Society's Eſtates, the Bonds given by the Fellows, the Policies of Inſurance, and other Securities, be lodged in the Society's Iron Cheſt.

CHAPTER IX.

Of the Secretaries.

I. THE Secretaries, or either of them, ſhall have inſpection over the Clerk; and ſhall give the Orders and Directions concerning the entering and writing of all minutes or matters in the Journal-books of the Society or Council, or any other books of the Society; alſo concerning any orders or other writings for the uſe and ſervice of the Society.

II. The Secretaries ſhall attend at all meetings of the Society, Council, and Committees of papers; where when the Preſident hath taken the Chair, the Senior Secretary ſhall read the minutes, orders, and entries, of the preceding meeting; and ſhall afterwards take minutes of the buſineſs and orders of the preſent meeting, to be entered by the Clerk in the reſpective books to which they relate: and at the meetings of the Society, the Junior Secretary ſhall mention the preſents made to them ſince the laſt meeting, ſhall give notice of any candidate that ſtands propoſed for election into the Society at that meeting, there being preſent a competent number for making elections; and ſhall read the letters and papers preſented to the Society in the order of time he received them, unleſs the Preſident ſhall otherwiſe direct.

III. The

III. The Secretaries, or either of them, ſhall draw up all letters to be written to any perſons in the name of the Society or Council (to be read and approved of in ſome meeting of either reſpectively) except, for ſome particular cauſe or conſideration, ſome other perſon be appointed by the Society or Council to draw up any ſuch letter. They ſhall likewiſe have the charge (under the direction of the Committee of Papers) of printing the Philoſophical Tranſactions and correcting the Preſs.

CHAPTER X.

Of the Clerk, Librarian, Keeper of the Repoſitory, and Houſe-keeper.

I. THE perſon who ſhall be choſen to any, or to all of theſe Offices, ſhall either not be a Fellow of the Society; or, if a Fellow, ſhall ceaſe to be ſo, upon his Election to and acceptance of any or all of the ſaid Offices.

II. He ſhall be competently ſkilled in languages, natural knowledge, and able to write a fair and legible hand.

III. The Election of the Clerk by the Society, ſhall be in the following manner.

The names of the ſeveral Candidates ſhall be printed and delivered to every Member; each of whom ſhall take off the name of ſuch Candidate as he means to vote for; and (after having had his own name marked in a liſt of the Members of the Society by the Secretary, aſſiſted by two Scrutators to be appointed in the ſame manner as at the anniverſary Elections), deliver the name of the Candidate ſo taken off, and folded up, into the hands of the Preſident, who, in the preſence of the Society, ſhall put the ſeveral names into a veſſel appropriated for that purpoſe; and the Candidate who ſhall be found to have the majority of votes, ſhall be deemed duly elected.

IV. The appointment of a perſon to the other offices of Librarian, Keeper of the Repoſitory, and Houſe-keeper, is to be by the Council; to whom the Officer ſo appointed ſhall give ſecurity, at their diſcretion: he ſhall reſide in the Society's Houſe, and provide a Porter, who ſhall be furniſhed with a Gown and Staff at the expence of the Society.

V. The perſon or perſons choſen to officiate in the ſaid reſpective departments ſhall be paid for attendance, writing, and other buſineſs, according to the determinations already made by the Council, and as hath been the practice of late years; and ſhall not, beſides ſuch payments, receive any perquiſite or profit whatſoever, but what is, or ſhall be, expreſsly allowed by the Council: ſuch perſon or perſons ſhall be further ſubject to ſuch Rules and Orders as ſhall from time to time be given him or them by the Preſident and Council, beſides thoſe annexed to the duty of the ſeveral Offices; and ſhall conſtantly be in attendance, during all meetings of the Society, Council, and Committee.

Of the Duty of the Clerk.

I. HE ſhall enter all the minutes in the ſeveral Journal-books, and make an Index to every ſuch book: he ſhall lay before every Council their fair current minute-book; and before every Committee of papers, the Society's Journal-book, to ſhew that the ſeveral entries are fairly made: and he ſhall have the care of the writing of all ſummonſes of the Society, Council, and Commitees.

II. The

II. The Clerk under the direction of the Secretaries, ſhall have the charge and cuſtody of the Charter-book, Statute-book, Journal-books of the Society and Council, Regiſter-books and Letter-books, as alſo of all papers and writings belonging to the Society; all which ſhall be kept in the houſe of the Society, that they may be in readineſs to be produced at any meetings of the Society or Council, as the caſe ſhall require, or as ſhall be ordered by the Society, Council, or Preſident.

III. The Clerk ſhall not ſuffer any perſon, not being a Fellow of the Society, to read any Journal-book, Record, or Writing, or any part thereof, belonging to the Society; nor give any copy thereof, nor any way communicate any thing contained therein, to any ſuch perſon.

IV. Each page of copying, for which the Clerk is to be paid, ſhall be eſtimated by the ſize of the Fools-cap paper; the folio page containing thirty lines fairly and cloſely written, with a margin not exceeding one fourth part of the page in breadth; and according to the ſame rate for any larger or ſmaller page.

Of the Duty of the Librarian.

I. THE Librarian ſhall attend the Libraries two days in the week during the meetings of the Society, viz. Tueſday and Thurſday in the morning from eleven to two of the clock; and during the receſſes of the Society only one day in the week, namely Thurſday from eleven to two. During theſe times he ſhall attend for the accommodation of ſuch Fellows of the Society as ſhall come to read the printed books, or manuſcripts, and of any other perſons who ſhall bring a written permiſſion from the Preſident or any other Member of the Council, or who ſhall be introduced by a Fellow in Perſon.

II. The Librarian ſhall enter into the Catalogue all books preſented to, or bought by, the Society, immediately after their coming into the poſſeſſion of the Society, and ſo place them as to be readily found.

III. The Librarian ſhall receive from the Printer all the copies of the Philoſophical Tranſactions; deliver out one copy to each Member who ſhall aſk, or ſend for it at the Houſe of the Society; furniſh the Bookſellers with the copies ordered to be ſold; and keep a regular account of the Tranſactions ſo received and delivered.

The Duty of the Keeper of the Repoſitory.

I. HE ſhall attend the Repoſitory two days in the week, during the meetings of the Society, viz. on Mondays and Fridays, on each day from eleven of the clock in the forenoon to two in the afternoon; for the admiſſion of the Fellows of the Society and ſuch other perſons as they ſhall introduce.

II. He ſhall not, without leave of the Council, permit any thing to be taken out of the Repoſitory: and he ſhall enter into the Catalogue all particulars which are preſented to, or bought by, the Society.

F III. He

III. He ſhall cauſe the Animals, which from time to time are appropriated to the Repoſitory, to be neatly ſet up for preſervation, and then placed in the proper caſes; agreeable to the order he ſhall receive from the Inſpectors of the Muſeum.

IV. He ſhall remark what is neceſſary for the preſervation, augmentation, and arrangement, of the ſeveral natural and artificial Productions; what particulars have not yet been deſcribed, and report the ſame to the Council.

Of the Duty of the Houſe-keeper.

I. HE ſhall always be ready to receive Meſſages, Parcels, Letters, &c. directed to the Society, Council, and Officers; and to cauſe all Orders, Summonſes and Letters of the Preſident, Council, and Committees to be ſent, or delivered, as directed, in proper time.

II. He ſhall take care that the Society's Houſe, and particularly the Meeting-room, and other public apartments, are kept clean; and that all conveniencies, with fires and candles in the proper rooms, be prepared and lighted at the times neceſſary; and that paper, pens, and ink, are in conſtant readineſs for uſe in every department: and ſhall inform the Council, from time to time, of whatſoever repairs he conceives to be wanting.

III. He

III. He ſhall have the care of the Keys of all the Rooms, Cloſets, Libraries, and Repoſitories, as well for their cleaning and repairing, as for ſecuring their contents, as much as poſſible, in caſe of fire, or other accident: and he ſhall officiate as Mace-bearer, and carry about the balloting-box.

IV. He ſhall, as Deputy to the Treaſurer, receive the payments of the Fellows; pay ſuch bills as he is directed to diſcharge; pay to the Treaſurer the balance in hand whenever called upon; keep a fair account of the Society's income and expence; and be allowed one ſhilling in the pound on the ſums which he receives, for his aſſiſtance to the Treaſurer.

CHAPTER XI.

Of the ordinary Meetings of the Society.

I. THE ordinary Meetings of the Society ſhall be weekly, upon Thurſday, beginning at ſix of the clock in the afternoon, and continue about an hour as uſual, at the diſcretion of the Preſident.

II. When the Preſident takes the chair, the reſt of the Fellows ſhall place themſelves orderly and conveniently for the buſineſs of the Meeting; and no ſtranger ſhall be permitted to be preſent during the Meeting, unleſs by order of the Preſident, or by leave obtained of the Society upon the motion of ſome Member before the Preſident takes the chair; and the name of every perſon ſo permitted to be preſent, and of the Fellow who moved for him, ſhall be entered in the Journal-Book.

III. When any Fellow ſpeaketh, he ſhall addreſs his ſpeech to the Preſident; and the reſt ſhall be ſilent.

IV. When two or more offer to ſpeak together, the Preſident ſhall determine which of them ſhall ſpeak firſt.

Paste VI under V. on p. 37.

VI. That the Meetings of the Society may not be waſted by unprofitable debates, contrary to the intent and meaning of the fifth ſection of this chapter, it is conſtituted, eſtabliſhed, and ordained, that every motion or queſtion, propoſed to be ballotted for by the Society, ſhall be fairly tranſcribed on paper, and being ſigned by ſix or more Fellows of the Society, it ſhall be by them delivered to one of the Secretaries at a Meeting of the Society; and ſhall thereupon be read immediately after the declaration of the Preſents on the Table; and after being marked by the Secretary with the date of the day when delivered, it ſhall be fixed up in the common Meeting-room of the Society at the next ordinary Meeting; and on the Meeting next following the ſame, it ſhall be put to the Ballot, unleſs thoſe who have ſigned it agree to withdraw it.

But nothing contained in this Statute is to be conſtrued to extend to matters relative to elections, or the ordinary buſineſs of the Society.

This leaf is to be paſted on p. 37. of the Statutes.

V. The buſineſs of the Society in their ordinary Meetings ſhall be, to order, and take account of, philoſophical experiments and obſervations; to read and hear letters, reports, and other papers, concerning philoſophical matters; as alſo to view the Productions of nature and art: and thereupon to conſider what may be deduced from them, or any of them; and how far they, or any of them, may be improved for uſe or diſcovery.

CHAP.

CHAPTER XII.

Of the ſelecting of Papers laid before the Society, in order for Publication.

I. THE Members of the Council of this Society, for the time being, ſhall conſtitute and be a ſtanding Committee of the ſaid Society, to whom the conſideration of the Publication of ſuch Papers, as ſhall have been read before, or communicated to, them at their weekly meetings, ſhall from time to time be referred; and that the ſaid Committee ſhall meet on the firſt Thurſday of every month, in which the Society ſhall hold their ordinary meeting, or at ſuch times as ſhall be appointed by the Preſident, or in his abſence by one of the Vice-Preſidents; and that due and ſufficient notice of ſuch meeting ſhall be ſent previouſly thereto, to every Member of the ſaid Committee.

II. That no leſs number than ſeven of the Members of the ſaid Committee (of which number the Preſident, or in his abſence a Vice-Preſident, always to be one) ſhall be a Quorum, capable of acting in relation to the ſaid Papers.

III. That the majority of the ſaid Committee, preſent at any meeting thereof, ſhall be at liberty to call in to their aſſiſtance, at that or any other ſubſequent meeting, any other Members of the Society, who are knowing and well ſkilled in any particular branch of Science, that ſhall happen to be the ſubject-matter of any Paper, which ſhall be then to come under their deliberation; and that the perſons ſo called in to aſſiſt, although not Members of the Committee, may give their votes on all Papers to be conſidered at ſuch meeting at which they ſhall be deſired to aſſiſt, in the ſame manner as the Members of the ſaid Committee may do.

IV. That, at every meeting of the Committee, their method of proceeding upon the Papers to be conſidered by them ſhall be thus: the firſt entry in the Journal-book of the Society, relating to any paper, upon which the opinion of the Committee ſhall not have been taken, ſhall be read; and if any Member ſhall ſo deſire, the paper itſelf ſhall be read, but otherwiſe only the minute relating thereto: after which the queſtion ſhall be put, whether that paper ſhall be printed in the Philoſophical Tranſactions; unleſs the majority of the Committee ſhall be of opinion for adjourning the conſideration of it to a ſubſequent meeting: and the queſtion ſhall always be decided by ballot, which ſhall be taken and deemed to be carried or loſt, according as the greater number of balls ſhall be in the white or black drawer of the box: but if upon any queſtion the number of the balls ſhall be equal in each drawer of the box, the further conſideration of the queſtion ſhall be adjourned to the next meeting of the Committee; and a minute ſhall be made for the taking that queſtion into conſideration, at the next meeting of the Committee, before any other buſineſs ſhall be entered upon; and the next entry in the Journal-book of the Society ſhall be proceeded upon in like manner; and after the queſtion ſhall have been decided as to that, the ſeveral others ſhall be proceeded upon, according to the order in which they reſpectively ſtand in the ſaid Journal-book of the Society: and that, when at the ſecond balloting upon the ſame queſtion there ſhall ſtill be an equality of votes, it ſhall be determined in the negative.

V. That whenſoever it ſhall appear by the ballot to be the ſenſe of the Committee, that any Paper ſhall be made public in the Philoſophical Tranſactions, an entry thereof ſhall be made in the Minute-book of the ſaid Committee.

CHAPTER XIII.

Of the Manner of Publication of the Papers laid before the Society.

I. THE Philoſophical Tranſactions ſhall be printed at the ſole charge, and for the ſole uſe and benefit, of the Society, and of the Fellows thereof; to the intent that each of the preſent Fellows, who actually contribute and pay towards the ſupport of the Society, or who have compounded for ſuch contribution, according to the rules and orders eſtabliſhed in relation thereto, or who have for other particular reaſons been exonerated and diſcharged from ſuch contribution by order of the Council, may receive gratis (but under proper limitations and reſtrictions) one copy of ſuch of the Philoſophical Tranſactions, as ſhall be printed as aforeſaid; and that all perſons, who ſhall hereafter be admitted Fellows, ſhall, under the ſame conditions, receive and be intitled to the like benefit and advantage.

II. That once, at leaſt, in every year, a proper portion of the Papers, which have been communicated to the Society, ſhall be printed under the name and title of Philoſophical Tranſactions of the Royal Society of London, and that the time and manner of printing thoſe Papers ſhall be fixed and determined by the Council, as occaſion ſhall require. That ſuch a number of the copies ſo printed, as ſhall be ſufficient to ſupply the Fellows of the Society, ſhall be delivered to the Librarian of the Society; who ſhall enter in a book, to be provided for that purpoſe, the number of copies received by him, for which he ſhall be accountable to the Council for the time being.

III. The Librarian ſhall deliver gratis, at the Society's houſe, one of the ſaid copies to every Fellow of the Society (except as herein after excepted) who ſhall demand the ſame, either in perſon, or by letter or other writing under the hand of ſuch Fellow as ſhall not come in perſon to make ſuch demand: and the perſon ſo receiving a copy of ſuch Philoſophical Tranſactions ſhall at the ſame time ſign the abovementioned book, as having received the ſaid copy.

IV. In order that the Fellows may be apprized of the time when it will be proper for them to come or ſend for their reſpective copies, due and timely notice ſhall be given in ſome one or more of the public news-papers of the day upon which the Librarian will begin to deliver out the ſaid copies, as aforeſaid; which day ſhall be fixed and appointed by the Preſident for the time being.

Provided always, that no Fellow of the Society whatſoever ſhall be intitled to demand or receive any ſuch copy of the Tranſactions, whoſe annual contribution ſhall be one year in arrear; or whoſe Election and payment of admiſſion fees and regular Contributions ſhall not have preceded the date of the time publiſhed for the delivery of the ſaid Tranſactions; neither ſhall the Executor of any deceaſed Fellow receive a copy of the Tranſactions publiſhed after the death of ſuch Fellows.

Provided alſo, that no Fellow of the Society ſhall receive, or be intitled to receive, gratis, any copy or copies of the Tranſactions, ſo printed as aforeſaid, after one year ſhall be elapſed from the time of the Librarian's having begun to deliver out ſuch copies reſpectively; but that his neglecting to demand them for ſo long a time ſhall be deemed a forfeiture and dereliction of his right thereto: unleſs the Council for the time being, upon their being made acquainted with the reaſon of, or ſome excuſe for, ſuch delay, ſhall order the ſame to be ſo delivered; ſuch order, however, not to extend further back than to the laſt five years preceding its date.

Provided alſo, that if the number of copies ſo to be printed as aforeſaid, ſhall be greater than what will be requiſite to ſupply each of the Fellows with one copy; ſuch ſupernumerary copies, as alſo all ſuch as ſhall remain in the hands of the Librarian after that five years ſhall be elapſed from the time of his having begun to deliver out ſuch copies reſpectively, ſhall be diſpoſed of, at ſuch times, and in ſuch manner, as the Council for the time being ſhall order and direct.

CHAPTER XIV.

Of the Books and Papers of the Society.

I. THERE ſhall be had and kept a Book, called the Charter-book, wherein ſhall be fairly written the copy of the Charters, all his Majeſty's grants on the behalf of the Society, and the obligation, to be ſubſcribed by the Fellows of the Society in their own hand-writing.

II. There ſhall be had and kept a Book, called the Statute-book, wherein ſhall be fairly written all the Laws, Statutes, and Conſtitutions made, or to be made, concerning the government and regulating of the Society or Council; and alſo a Regiſter of the Fellows of the Society, with the times of their Election and Admiſſion.

III. There ſhall be had and kept Journal-books for the Society and Council; wherein ſhall be entered all the minutes, orders, and the buſineſs of the Society and Council at their reſpective meetings.

IV. No Fellow ſhall give any copy or tranſcript of any matter contained in the Journals, or other Books of the Society, to any one that is not a Member thereof; nor communicate the ſame to any ſuch perſon to be tranſcribed, without particular leave obtained of the Council; except the ſaid matter were originally brought in, or communicated by himſelf: but any Fellow of the Society may, at proper times, and in the Society's Houſe, have the liberty of inſpecting any article in the Journal-books of the Society.

V. The original copy of every Paper read at the Society ſhall be conſidered as the property of the Society, if there be no previous engagement with its Author to the contrary: but any Author may have a copy of his own papers by leave of the Council.

VI. All the papers read at the Society in the courſe of each year, not withdrawn by leave of the Council, ſhall be delivered to the Committee of Papers at their annual meeting; and ſhall be preſerved in Guard-books, for future inſpection; and ſhall never be lent out of the Society's Houſe without Order of the Council.

VII. Fellows of the Society may, between the hour of eleven in the forenoon and two in the afternoon, on the Tueſdays and Thurſdays during the meetings of the Society, and on Thurſdays during the receſſes of the Society, inſpect one or more of the printed Books in the Society's Library;
